Dear Mavericks,

KEEP DIGGING MY FRIENDS!

Remember the rabbit with three holes? Well, a little birdie told me he’s busy diggin’ a dozen more!

You see, Fourth Turnings are not linear, they’re exponential! With this worldview, it makes sense why the cascade of events has seemingly ratcheted up a notch over the past month or so.

However, here’s the fun part, as the world’s a theatre and we can either sit, watch and commentate or we get to create our own theatre show. The challenge, of course, is that the rules of the game are constantly changing, and not in our favor, so we need to stay vigilant, to stay nimble and constantly dip-n-weave, to stay ahead of the game.

My favorite saying over the past 6 years or so, is … “When in doubt, zoom out!”

So while the day-to-day events explode like flash-bangs around us, we can chose to focus on the details, like for example the impact on Milei’s future that stems from the provincial elections or Trump’s armada building off the Caribbean coast – OR – zoom out and witness the Zio-led western empire secure their base north-south across the Americas, while NATO provokes the Ruskies into war, East<->West across the continent. Meanwhile, Netie continues to shake the ant jar across the Middle East.

ZOOM OUT — you see! The empire is dying, the monetary system is on life support, and the grubs in charge are prepping for a world war! They’re getting their ducks in a row: securing their allies, locking up energy & commodities, and protecting trade routes.

The empire is dying! The monetary system is on life support! The parasites are distracting us with war!

Watch or start digging!
So the past month (recall this is a monthly newsletter) has been a fascinating entry into human psychology! It seems every media, alt-media & self-proclaimed super-sleuth has spent every waking moment over the past month, in their underpants banging at their keyboard, analyzing to death (excuse the pun) the Charlie Kirk “incident”! Who-dunnit! CIA!

Mossad! AI! Exploding blood pouches! Body armor! Second shooters! Nah, he's on a beach in the Bahamas! Nah, some dude photographed him on a NY subway! FFS – does it really matter!

Meanwhile, in a dark, lonely corner of FinTwit; a sub-segment, of a sub-segment, of a small portion of the financial world was "waking up"! Amidst all the noise, there's a story unfolding, one that speaks to the very heart of our financial system, that's historically been the canary in the coal mine, a warning sign that things are about to break!

The most unassuming of the metals, SILVER is breaking to all-time highs: up 20% in the past month alone! 30% in three months! While the silver junior miners are, so to speak, ripping their faces off, up in multiples!

It’s a good reminder that we can get caught up in the daily noise, while forgetting to dig those holes that provide us with the escape route that we may need, as the chaos unfolds. Zoom in and you’ll see that’s a 50-Year cup-n-handle. For the chartist, when this breaks (and perhaps by the time you read this, it’s already broken), the next stop is nirvana!

Let’s stick with the shiny metal for a moment!

Silver’s been a monetary metal for thousands of years, and its importance in the global economy cannot be overstated. Silver was one of the first metals used as a form of currency, with the earliest known silver coins dating back to ancient Greece and Rome. While the Spanish Empire’s conquest of the New World in the 16th century led to a massive influx of silver into the global economy, which helped to establish silver as a monetary standard and medium of exchange, from the Spanish to the Dutch onto the expansion of the British Empire, all built on the back of the silver workhorse.

What the history books show is that silver price explosions have often been a harbinger of economic turmoil, inflation, and monetary instability. We've only go to got back 50 years, to the 1970s, where silver prices skyrocketed from $1.50 to $50 per ounce, driven by a combination of inflation, currency devaluation, and a shift to hard assets.

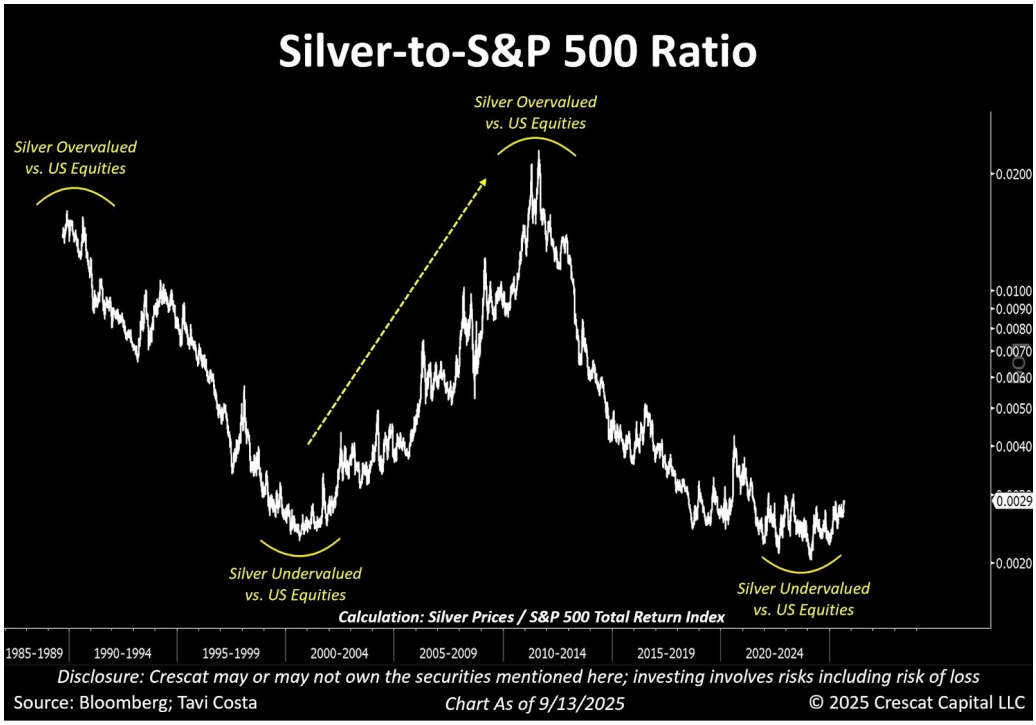

Rising silver prices are driven by inflationary pressures and a lack of confidence in the institutions that have provided decades of stability, as investors seek to protect their wealth from currency devaluation and the loss of confidence in fiat currencies, while diversifying their wealth into hard assets.

The canary in the coal mine!

In short, silver prices typically provide a unique insight into the underlying health of the global economy and the monetary system, being the harbinger of future uncertainty.

Now, while the past month has been fascinating to watch the price action explode and the crypto-like movements in the junior mining sector, sort of like being at an all-winning roulette table, it begs the question of when to jump off the roulette wheel!

Well, for me, this chart says it all! We're just getting started!

OUR NEXT MAVERICKS EVENT – Investing in the Age of Chaos!

Join us, November 4th to 7th in Dallas Texas …

Day 0 (Nov 4th) – is our typical welcome evening.
Days 1&2 (Nov 5th & 6th) – we'll be digging those dozen holes, so to speak. Talking about building an anti-fragile and resilient asset portfolio, built for a decade of chaos ahead.
Day 3 (Nov 7th) – will be about building personal resilience and considering the more important aspects of community, personal safety, food water and energy.
Day 4 (Sat Nov 8th) – is a social and optional day at Fort Worth stockyards. A chance to get to know your fellow Mavericks, enjoy some good food, line-dancing and rodeo!

MAVERICK PARTNERS

The Mavericks Directory listing has more than twenty partner firms offering specials to Mavericks members.
Considering the silver canary in the coal mine, it might be worthwhile looking up these two partners …
Silver Bullion in Singapore – worth contacting when thinking about silver stacking!
SWP in Cayman and multiple other vaults around the world – also worth being in touch for their deals on Silver stacking.

Meanwhile, we have immigration, real estate, health & wellness and a whole lot more partners in our members directory.

All Mavericks-exclusive deals are posted in the directory here with the tag "Mavericks Special Offer".
